◆ JURY INDICTS WATTS BAR WORKER

A federal grand jury in Chattanooga has returned a two-count indictment against Matthew David Correll, 31, of Hixson, for making false statements. According to the indictment, Correll falsified documents, claiming he had measured and inspected cables used to supply electricity to safety systems at the Watts Bar Nuclear Plant. The indictment says Correll never made the measurements or the inspections. If convicted, he faces up to 10 years in prison and $500,000 in fines. Correll works for Williams Speciality Services, a TVA sub-contractor.

◆ PASSAGE OF SUDAFED BILL IN DOUBT

Both State Senator Mike Bell and Rep. John Forgety of McMinn County say they favor passage of legislation which would make products containing pseudoephedrine available only by prescription. However, they say there is not enough support in the legislature for passage at this point. Sen. Bell says there seems to be more support for an electronic tracking system to keep up with who purchases pseudoephedrine, how often, and how much. However, many law enforcement agencies say tracking systems do little to curtail sales of Sudafed and other drugs used to manufacture meth.

NATIONAL & WORLD NEWS

◆ The FAA has suspended the air traffic control tower supervisor who fell asleep at the switch at Washington's Reagan National Airport the other night. The pilots of two passenger jets were unable to reach anyone in the control tower to guide their late-night landings. Transportation Secretary Ray LaHood told the FAA to begin assigning two air traffic controllers on the midnight shift at Reagan.

◆ French fighter jets struck an air base deep inside Libya on Thursday and destroyed one of Moammar Gadhafi's planes. Other coalition bombers struck artillery, arms depots, and parked helicopters.

◆ U.S. stock prices rose on Thursday, helped by optimism about earnings and by investors buying some of the quarter's high performers. The Dow Jones Average closed at 12,170.56; up 84.54.

◆ Jury selection is underway in Los Angeles in the trial of Dr. Conrad Murray, the physician who has been charged with the death of singer Michael Jackson. The trial is expected to last two months.

◆ Here is some good news for chocolate lovers. New research says if you can handle the fat and calories, there may be a health benefit to consuming dark chocolate on occasion. The latest research suggests that the cocoa ingredient may lower blood pressure and cholesterol levels while preventing diabetes and improving the health of blood vessels.

◆ Warm weather and sunshine aren't the only criteria for picking a place to retire. According to Forbes magazine, Fargo, North Dakota, and Omaha, Nebraska, are among the top 16 cities for seniors.
