STATE-NATIONAL-WORLD NEWS

- ◆ A 32-year-old Harrisburg, Pa., woman, Beth Myers, was found dead in her tent at the Bonnaroo Music Festival in Manchester. She is the seventh person to die in the history of the festival.
- ◆ Sweetwater voters have approved a ½% sales tax increase for their city. Purchases made in Sweetwater will be assessed a 9.75% tax rate. Voters also approved package stores for Sweetwater.
- ◆ Firefighters on Sunday expressed the first real sense of hope that they were making progress in their battle against a huge eastern Arizona wildfire burning since May, and officials began allowing roughly 7,000 residents to return home to two towns threatened for days by the blaze.
- ◆ The second-ranking House Democrat has joined the party leadership in urging Rep. Anthony Weiner to quit because of his sexting scandal, a request the New York lawmaker has sidestepped in favor of a temporary leave of absence. Meanwhile more explicit and lewd photos of him have turned-up on the internet.
- ◆ The Saturday killing of an al-Qaida mastermind who planned the bombings of two U.S. embassies in Africa, drew praise from Kenyans and Somalis. Fazul Abdullah Mohammed eluded capture for 13 years and topped the FBI's most wanted list for planning the Aug. 7, 1998, U.S. Embassy bombings in Kenya and Tanzania.

The Great Race was Great!

Over 100 vintage automobiles, ranging from 1911 to 1969, made their appearance in Athens on Saturday when the Great Race made its first pit stop in the Friendly City. The Great Race was last here in 1999 when Athens was chosen as the best pit stop. Corky Coker, son of former Athenian Harold Coker, bought the rights to the Great Race earlier this year and launched the race from his hometown of Chattanooga. The race will conclude in Bennington, Vermont on June 17th.
