NATIONAL & WORLD NEWS

- ◆ Thousands of residents of the Dallas-Fort Worth area were without power Wednesday and hundreds of airline flights were canceled a day after a dozen tornadoes struck the densely populated area. Hundreds of homes and businesses were damaged by the twisters, which tossed tractor-trailer trucks into the air. At least 17 people were injured. Officials say the fact that there were no deaths can be attributed to fact that the weather service was able to track the storm and issue warnings for more than an hour before it reached Dallas-Fort Worth.
- ◆ A police report detailing the initial investigation in the Feb. 26th shooting death of Trayvon Martin in Sanford, Florida, has surfaced. The report states that the shooter, George Zimmerman, was bleeding from the nose and back of his head. It says that his back appeared to be wet and was covered in grass as if he had been laying on his back on the ground. It says Zimmerman was given first aid by the fire department and quotes him as saying, "I was yelling for someone to help me, but no one would help me."
- ◆ Stock prices tumbled Wednesday after the Federal Reserve signaled it may be less willing to make further bond purchases. The Dow Jones Industrial Average was down 124.80 at 13,074.75.
- ◆ Forecasters say the 2012 hurricane season will be "below average," with 10 tropical storms and two major hurricanes.

Collecting Change for "Change"

The Optimist Club of Athens has started a new campaign using a "change" bucket. At each weekly Optimist meeting, members will be asked to toss their pocket change into the bucket. At the end of the year, all the change collected in the "Change for Change" campaign will be given to the family of a local child stricken with cancer. The photo shows Optimist members Diane Frank & Stanley Blair with the change bucket.

BIG STORM HITS DENSO AREA

A strong storm with hail and a possible tornado hit the area near the Denso plant west of I-75 Monday night. The rear end of a house on County Road 119 was blown off and numerous trees were downed in the area. The occupants of the house heard the sound of a "train" just as the storm hit. They escaped without injury. An employee at Denso sent us this photo showing a picnic table covered with leaves that were shredded by hail stones.
