STATE & NATIONAL NEWS

◆ The nation was watching as workers at the Volkswagen plant in Chattanooga voted 712 to 626 against being represented by the United Auto Workers union. Labor observers say the rejection was a major blow to UAW's hopes of organizing a foreign auto plant in right-to-work states in the South. Senator Bob Corker says he had been told that if the union did not win, the Chattanooga VW plant will get to build a new SUV.

◆ State Sen. Mike Bell of Riceville is a sponsor of a bill that would allow companies to reject business from gay couples. The bill is designed to prevent lawsuits against wedding vendors, such as photographers, florists, and bakers, who don't want gay couples as clients.

◆ Sen. Mike Lee, Republican of Utah, says President Obama has violated the Constitution by using executive orders to alter the Affordable Care Act, but admits Republicans likely have no ability to stop another case of Obama sidestepping Congress.

◆ A Pennsylvania woman has admitted to killing a man she met through a Craigslist advertisement and claims to have killed more than 20 other people across the country. Miranda Barbour, 19, says it was part of her involvement in a satanic cult.
