State & Local News

◆ STORAGE BUILDING BURNS

A storage building on County Road 475 was destroyed by fire Tuesday night. The building contained a motor home, a golf cart, and several pieces of garden equipment. The owner, Jerry Arnett, suffered burns to his face when he retrieved his riding mower from the burning building. Twenty-six firefighters responded to the fire.

◆ 2-YEAR-OLD HURT IN HOME INVASION

A home invasion on Tellico Avenue in Athens early Tuesday resulted in a 2-year-old boy suffering head injuries. The mother told police that two black males entered the back door with guns drawn. One hit the little boy on the head several times. They left with a laptop. The youngster was treated at Starr Regional.

National & International News

- ◆ International leaders have asked the European Investment Bank to sign no new financing agreements with Moscow.
- ◆ Federal public health laboratories that handle dangerous germs such as anthrax and bird flu have been plagued with systemic safety problems for years according to the director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Last month a CDC lab was supposed to completely kill anthrax samples before sending them to two other CDC labs, but the higher-security lab did not completely sterilize the bacteria. In another incident, bird flu virus was accidentally contaminated with a much deadlier strain and CDC's top management was not notified until last week.
- ◆ Passengers stranded for more than 12 hours on a casino boat that ran aground off Georgia's coast were ferried to shore Wednesday aboard two Coast Guard cutters.

What are others saying about Weston Wamp?

"...it's attitudes like Fleischmann's that have resulted in this gridlock and that are responsible for Congress's 13 percent approval rating...Wamp has convinced me of his conservative credentials. His ideology is a solidly conservative one, perhaps more in line with the Howard Baker and Ronald Reagan."
